NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING TO OPEN TUESDAY IN BRISTOL TOWNSHIP

Pupils Have Been Assigned To Class Rooms For Classes

IS WELL EQUIPPED

Plan Addition To New Building Before Next Term

Bristol Township's new junior high school building, located on Rogers Road, will open on Tuesday morning next.

Sessions will commence on Tuesday morning in the eight classrooms, which include the manual training department. There are on the faculty nine teachers.

Andrew Jackson, principal of the junior high school, will be in charge.

No formal ceremony has been planned for the event, classes merely being called at the usual time. An "open night" on which parents may visit the new school is planned, however, in the near future.

The approximate cost of the new building, together with the 19-acre plot of ground, is given at $70,000. The original contract price was $62,000; and cost of the ground, $3,300. Some alterations and additions have been made to the structure since the construction got under way, thus adding to the cost. Students in the junior high school have been instructed where to report. During the remainder of this term all students of grades eight and nine will be accommodated in the new structure, which has just been completed. Continued on Page Three

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

Mayor LaGuardia has handed his piece of the OCD hot potato to James M. Landis.

It's Judge Landis they need—and old Bill Klem at the plate.

LaGuardia stuck until the dancing started. Then he said he had to get up early and left for home.

He is the first man to leave Washington voluntarily since the center of employment shifted there.

A railroad ticket agent fainted at his window the other day when a man asked for a round-trip ticket to Washington.

The town is so crowded that people travel to Mount Vernon just to look at Washington's bed.

Some of the people are politicians and some are parasites.

A parasite is the other guy in a given situation.

Thought for the day: Visit Washington and sleep standing up.

Besides a thorough discussion on incendiary bombs and their control, Mr. Morrell will supplement his talk by supervising an actual demonstration outside the school in which a bomb will be set off and then the steps in the effective extinguishing process shown.

The meeting, which has been called for 8 p. m., has been called by chief air raid warden of Bensalem, Creighton Vandegrift, Eddington, and chief of the emergency police, H. H. Detmer. Cornwells Heights. Both men urge the attendance of the civilian population at the meeting so that all will have a first-hand knowledge of emergency measures.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

A Way Must Be Found

Defense has got to be cleaned out and the boondoggling, uplifting absurdities which now characterize it removed. Despite the new director's "reorganization" plans, it is quite clear that this cannot be done until or unless Mrs. Roosevelt retires.

THAT opinion is widely held, not only in the country but within the organization itself, where, however, it must be voiced privately. There are three ways by which Mrs. Roosevelt's retirement may be brought about. First, her President-husband could exercise his marital position to get her out. Second, Mr. Landis, who is now OCD director, could request her resignation. Third, she could voluntarily resign.

AS far as the President personally getting Mrs. Roosevelt out is concerned, few informed persons think it likely. Those who know best the family affairs are convinced that Mr. Roosevelt does not tell Mrs. Roosevelt what she should or should not do about anything. She operates, they say, with complete independence and is not amenable to orders or even suggestions. As for Mr. Landis, certainly it is difficult to imagine him explaining to the wife of the President that she is a liability and not an asset and asking for her resignation. It is not certain that even if freed from his personal embarrassment Mr. Landis can do the job the way it should be done, but it is quite certain that as long as the lady lingers he is not going to have the chance.

IT is quite certain that under existing conditions the OCD will continue. Continued On Page Two

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

Singapore Still Holds Out

London—The city of Singapore was subjected to unending ordeal from the skies today as the Japanese Air Force sought to break down the besieged garrison by incessant bombing attacks.

An official communique broadcast to London said that enemy pressure continued during the past 24 hours and that there had been "many bombing attacks" upon the city.

A Japanese broadcast heard at the same time said that Jap infantry troops are now slightly over two miles from the heart of Singapore city and that furious fighting continues.

The war-weary defenders of Singapore still fought indomitably against while against hordes of Jap invaders after staging a successful counter-attack against the Nipponese left flank early today.

Earlier, outnumbered RAF units had won a victory over enemy bombers and fighters in an engagement above the Malay Peninsula.

The Singapore broadcast, answering Jap claims they have captured all the city's airports, pointed out that with the battle raging no air base on the island can be used by either side.

British Admit Escape of Nazi Navy

London—Authoritative British circles reluctantly admitted today that the German navy has succeeded in one of the most desperate gambles of the war by sending the battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the cruiser Prinz Eugen through a curtain of British fire from Brest to their home port in Helgoland Bight.

The Press Association circulated a dispatch which said: "There can now be little doubt that unless any of the trio was seriously damaged they are now back at their home port."

It was assumed that up until the time of their arrival the mighty land, sea and air battle which accompanied the dramatic dash from France's leading naval port had proceeded without cessation.

Japs Bomb Own Infantry

Washington—Japanese dive bombers mistakenly bombed and machine-gunned their own infantry, with heavy casualties, as sporadic fighting was renewed today in the battle of Bataan Peninsula.

At the same time, Gen. MacArthur reported that two enemy dive bombers were shot down in the latest action during which Japanese air craft were reported active once more following a lull of several days.

No details were given about the mistaken bombing of Jap infantry.

U. S. Fleet's Big Victory

Honolulu—First eye-witness accounts dramatically revealed today that the United States naval attack on Japanese bases in the Marshall and Gilbert islands on February 1 constituted a much greater victory than first reported. At least 18 Japanese ships, including one modern cruiser and one Yawata class liner, were sunk or destroyed and others were damaged.

More than 35 enemy planes were demolished on the ground or in the air. Air bases, hangars, military installations, key shore positions and other selected objectives were wrecked in the brilliant surprise attack.

Caught napping and dealt a heavy blow, the Japanese in desperation, enraged two frantic but ineffectual bombing plane attacks after the United States forces withdrew.

The attack was executed by units of the United States Pacific Fleet based at Hawaii under command of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. All combat types, supported by aircraft based on an aircraft carrier, participated.

In the Marshall group, bases on the islands of Kwajalein, Wotje, Maloelap, Jaluit and Nii were raided. Makin in the Gilbert Islands also was hit in this one simultaneous, grand-scale co-ordinated smash.

Significantly, the fleet was out more than 20 days before attacking, and this was long enough to have enabled it to reach Tokyo. The region attacked is 2,000 air miles southwest of Pearl Harbor in the direction of the great Dutch East Indies war theatre. The area of those Japanese mandates is 400 miles by 350 and encompasses 140,000 square miles.

The fleet threw its main air effort initially at Kwajalein because it is in an interior position. Valuable ship targets were found there, and 20 Japanese vessels were terrifically bombarded.

Those sunk or totally destroyed included one modern cruiser, two submarines, one Yawata class liner (16,500 tons), three fleet oilers and one cargo vessel. Several others were damaged to an undetermined degree.

As the speaker scheduled for the evening did not appear, the president called upon various members of the club associated with local industries to explain the effects of the war upon their businesses. The members responded willingly, and an extremely interesting program developed.

Andrew MacArthur, associated with the Thomas L. Leedom Co., said: "The war in closing our trade with the Far East has brought about an acute shortage of jute which affects us directly. We are also handicapped by the lack of Chinese wool which is of coarse texture, and although Australian wool can be used, it is too fine. We are dependent in our industry for blends of wools from different countries—China, Continued on Page Three

FIRESIDE MORE POPULAR

There is an interesting discussion in progress resulting from the announcement by the Federal Reserve Board that furniture sales have increased in the last year by 22 per cent over 1940.

The Furniture Market News sees in the increased sales sign of a nation-wide trend back to the fire-side. Wholesalers of furniture contend that lured wage scales and greater employment are the most important factors in boosting the sales. There apparently is no disagreement over the fact that the boosted sale of sewing and knitting tables is attributable to the war.

It must be apparent to everyone that in the absence of television no one can accurately ascertain the exact causes for the increase in furniture sales. But it is plain that certain factors have been at work that make for increased buying. Many people for the first time in years—or for the first time in their lives—are obtaining wages enabling them to buy the furniture they long have wanted.

Hundreds of thousands of persons have left their native states and cities to move to defense plant areas, and it is quite likely that not all of them shipped their already-possessed furniture across the prairies or the Mason-Dixon Line. Many new homes have come into existence as a result of the war.

The Furniture Market News seems to be veering a bit toward the romantic when it concludes that the increased furniture buying indicates a trend back to the fireside. Even many newly-married couples still seem to prefer the night club to the fireside. The furniture wholesalers are realistic. They know that people like attractive furniture and that they buy it when and if they can.

Motives are difficult to analyze, and even the buyers of furniture may not know the exact extent to which they are considering themselves, their families, the neighbors, acquaintances or friends when making a purchase. Perhaps they consider all of them.

SHORTAGE OF FISH

Catches of fish along the Atlantic coast have been greatly curtailed by the activities of Hitler's submarines.

Men who sail Boston's trawlers and dragnets want war risk insurance and a war bonus for each trip. They ask $5,000 war risk insurance per family and $200 insurance for possible loss of clothing and equipment, together with a $20-a-trip bonus for fishing in submarine-troubled waters. One day 30,000 pounds of fish were brought in, compared to a normal daily catch of 400,000 pounds.

There is also concern in the fishing centers about the possible requisitioning of large trawlers which make ideal mine sweepers.

Another of Hitler's generals has kicked the bucket. Being a Hitler general seems to be the world's most unhealthful occupation.

Uniforms for 6,000,000 soldiers will require all the wool there will be in 1943, it is predicted, leaving the civilian his old trousers.

Current suggestions on how to make out the income tax return should be followed by advice on how to pay it.

It was the target for heavy Congressional criticism and general public irritation. It will grow in public distaste and increase as a war management handicap. This is not a pleasant prospect for Mr. Landis, and he would not be human did he not privately long for the time when Mrs. Roosevelt withdraws. Undoubtedly he will protest that this is not so, but his protestations, as at his Tuesday press conference, have a hollow sound. The fact is that the OGD is in poor repute throughout the country—and that is too bad. It is not the foolish little left-wing proteges of Mrs. Roosevelt who have been put on the pay roll who matter so much, though certainly they tend to make the whole business seem ridiculous and exasperate the taxpaying public. What does matter a whole lot is that this vital war activity should be so managed as to become a poor sort of national joke instead of being taken with the seriousness to which the facts entitle it.

THE situation would be cleared up very largely should Mrs. Roosevelt retire and thus permit Mr. Landis to clear out the arts counselors, program planners, social workers, physical culturists, youth organizers, information specialists, nutrition advisers, dancers, actors, survey directors, war gardeners, etc., etc., etc., with whom the organization has become thickly cluttered. It is not certain that Mr. Landis will clear all these out. His evident purpose to hold on to his moving-picture glamor boy makes one skeptical. But it is certain he cannot possibly clear them out while Mrs. Roosevelt stays. So long as she is there her pretty pets will cluster around her. And none of them can be touched without touching her. Bolder men than Mr. Landis would shrink from that.

AS for Mrs. Roosevelt voluntarily resigning, there are two views. One is that she will follow Mr. LaGuardia just as soon as she can get the right "exit line"—that is, find a way to retire gracefully and not appear to be forced out. The other and more widely held view is that she has no intention of retiring but will serenely sit out the clamor and criticism. The basic reason for this belief is the firmness of Mrs. Roosevelt's conviction of her own wisdom and righteousness. This inner consciousness of rectitude is so strong that it makes her practically impervious to criticism and allergic to all facts which do not fit into her own theories.

SO sincerely is she convinced of the nobility of her purposes and the breadth of her understanding that any effort to point out the unsoundness of her conceptions is wholly futile. Her consistent reaction and firm conviction is that those who differ with her or criticize her are either ignorant or bad, or both. The notion that anything she herself has done is foolish will never get beyond her mental barricades. With her, it is always the others who are foolish for not grasping the greatness of her plans.

NO matter what the evidence, the idea will not occur to her that people are tired of her; that she is promoting popular discontent; that there are vast numbers of patriotic men and women, sweating under heavy taxes, who believe she is wasting public funds on trivialities; that the conspicuousness with which she has thrust herself into the war management offends their ideas of good taste and propriety; that the popular resentment she has created detracts from that national unity essential to the success of our war effort. There is no chance of convincing Mrs. Roosevelt of any of these things. The futility of argument with one so constituted is complete. All that can be done is to hope a way soon will be found. It is pretty important that one should be found.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

NEW AND WONDERFUL is the opportunity to procure free decorating advice for the mere asking! And new and wonderful is "The Homemakers' Shop" (remember the name!) where it can be obtained. The shop is a home in itself. Wander through its rooms. A professional decorator will help you to adapt or repeat or originate any ideas in your own home. Advice on all fabrics, even down to sheets. Visit or buy—you'll go again and take your friends! 5th floor, Snellenburg's.

ARTISTIC TOUCH: A sweet Valentine touch for any friend is a metal wall bracket containing a potted plant. Some very artistic brackets, at a very low price, are to be found in Snellenburg's Garden Department, 1st floor. Graceful leaf designs blend with the plants themselves. Pot and bracket complete cost but 89c, a special price. Plants can be added. African violets at 49c, philodendrons at 49c, and ivy at 25c. Sent to yourself or anyone, for Valentine Day or later. Delightful!

REAL "NEIGHBORHOOD-NESS": Widely discussed indeed is the new Emblem of the Americas pin, sponsored by the February Ladies' Home Journal, and to be had at Snellenburg's 1st floor Jewelry Dept. Designed by Coro. The price is $3.95, but the quality is high. Each and every flag of the other American countries is done in heavy enamel. The pin is gold color finished and is complete with a safety catch. A decorative slogan declares "Amigo Siempre." "Friends forever." What a gift for someone one does wish to keep always! It can have both a personal and international meaning. A substantial royalty from each sale goes to an international scholarship fund!

MEN STEPPING OUT: Men's clothes and accessories are becoming increasingly gay. Even conservatives are welcoming the very beautiful new hand-tooled saddle leather belts coming from Pasadena. Western styles for men are to be especially popular from now on. The hand-tooled belts with silvered buckles cost $2.95 and even $4.95. Most clever reproductions of them, however, are machine tooled belts to be had for $1, all at the same counter in the 1st floor Men's Furnishing Dept. at Snellenburg's. Leather braces, too!

RARE OPPORTUNITY: You who appreciate and delight in etchings, woodcuts and lithographs will want to see twenty-five of famous Herbert Pullinger's beautiful examples of such work. These are now hung in Snellenburg's 3rd floor Auditorium and are attracting much favorable comment. Between you and me, some of the lovely things are for sale and at most reasonable prices. Can't you think of a man who would like one for a Valentine? You can? Swell!

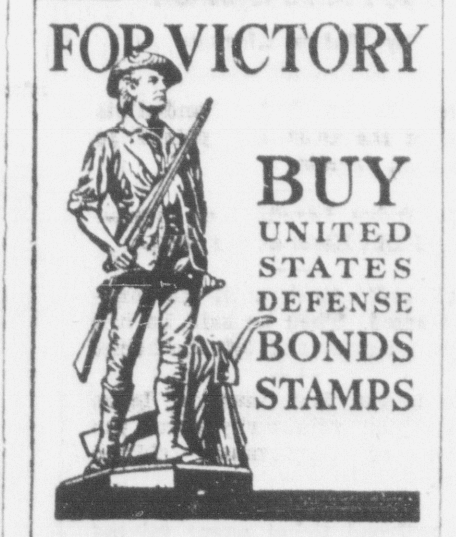

YOUR STIRRUP PUMP! High compliments have been paid to the Snellenburg Store for its installation of a complete Emergency Defense Dept. to be found in a section of the Housewares Dept. on the 3rd floor. Attendants advise as to purchases, and many important suggestions are to be had. Two important items we should not delay in purchasing are an efficient stirrup pump and sufficient sand. In this Snellenburg department sand can be had, and delivered, in 50 lb. lots at 59c and in 100 lb. lots for 89c. Stirrup pumps come at $9.95 complete with hose, nozzle, etc., and with no delay in delivery!

DEFENSE EQUIPMENT: More and more interesting items are being designed for Defense and Air Raid purposes. This time it's a wrist flashlight. Streamlined, it is made of khaki color enamel with matching elastic wristband. Somewhat resembles the headlight of a swank car. Marvelous for wear during blackouts. Good-sized batteries. Both men and women are wearing this particular emergency dash and it is expected to become increasingly popular. 98c. A good masculine gift. Look for it in Snellenburg's Stationery Dept.

HOME MORALE: Mealtime is usually the test of family dispositions. Consequently, everything should be done to make that hour a gay one. Dishes in charming design will help do this. I have found a very delightful little bargain of a twenty-five piece luncheon or breakfast set at $7.95. The design is a much more expensive one. It is one of those artistic creations of the Southern Pottery of Tennessee. Upon the ivory ground are sunny yellow and brown wild flowers. A design of which you won't grow tired! Snellenburg's 3rd floor China Dept.

Club Members Tell of War's Effect On Local Industries

Asia and India. The curtailment of foreign markets is a decided setback to our industry.

Arnold Barea, affiliated with the Paterson Parchment Paper Co., said: "Our industry is not dependent upon foreign markets, but government priorities on wood pulp for ammunition, and restrictions upon the use of chlorine, caused definite problems in the paper industry. Paper in the future will be infinitely darker, due to lack of proper bleaching chemicals, and there will be a definite shortage in colored paper due to lack of dyes. There will be a definite shortage in all types of paper due to a tremendous increase in government demands upon our industry."

Clarence Moyer, of Rohm and Haas Co., pointed out that the war has necessitated greatly increased production in the entire chemical industry, and that the government absorbs the company's entire plexiglas output. "Ours is not a problem of production but a question of to whom we may sell our chemical products."

Dr. William A. Groff, of the Bucks County Sales and Service, explained the effect of the present emergency upon the automobile industry and sales situation. "Production has ceased except for the manufacture of trucks and commercial vehicles. To provide for the future the government has authorized a 200 per cent increase on parts for trucks and commercial uses, and an increase of 120 per cent in passenger car parts. There will be a definite increase in the servicing of present automobiles in use, but sales are definitely frozen as well as all service station equipment especially in rubber sales, such as tubes and tires."

Pemberton Munster, of the D. Langreth Seed Company, brought out some very interesting facts in reference to the seed industry. "The seed industry is vitally affected by the war. Importation of seeds from abroad has practically ceased. There were many parts of the world upon which we were dependent for our seed supply notably herbs from France and numerous varieties from the Far East. There will be a marked shortage of radish, spinach and cauliflower seeds. We have tried to produce seed crops in this country, but due to climatic conditions or seasonal conditions we have met with failure. Our shipping facilities have been affected since we cannot secure burlap to ship the heavier varieties of seeds."

Edwin Hey, of the William H. Grundy Co., informed the members regarding the woolen industry. "Our problem is that of supply, especially olive oil for which we are forced to use mineral oil substitutes. Pig bristles, which normally are imported from China for use in the combing machines, are not greatly curtailed as to supply. We respond by using a 50 per cent supply of horse hair. The importation of wool from Australia will certainly affect our industry. Wool from South America may be substituted, but government bids at present require that we must specify what raw wool product is used in the spinning of the yarn. The government has put enormous demand upon the industry for woolen material for uniforms, and this will mean that private consumption will necessarily be decreased. We also face a drastic shortage of dyes and chemicals, especially carbon tetrachloride."

Asa Fabian, local pharmacist, was then called upon to speak for his business. "This war presents to us an opposite problem from that of the first war. In the last war our problem was in chemical drugs, but today we face an acute shortage in the vegetable drugs from the Far East, especially China, Java and India. They are drug supplies of the vegetable family that we cannot produce in this country. There are certain alkaloids and other drugs that cannot be synthesized and which in the future we cannot secure unless some method of synthetic preparation is discovered. Our sulpha preparations however will not be affected in any way."

Dr. George T. Fox spoke for the medical profession. "The supply of opium from China has practically ceased, and in the future we must draw upon the government supplies which have been stored up by the treasury. This situation means a curtailment of the morphine, codeine and heroin drugs. The closing of the Russian market necessitates a drastic cut in the supply of ichthyol, or the commonly known black salve, which was secured from immense fish deposits available only in Russia."

Howard I. Leister was then called upon to speak for the building trade. "The building industry is now facing a definite problem of supply in many essential commodities especially for plumbing and electricity. Private building will practically cease. Pre-fabricated houses face a very bright future, and are in harmony with modern methods of production and demands. The future building program will include defense housing projects; and private building will be confined to Title 6 of the FHA program which allows a very liberal mortgage for the conversion of present private dwellings into apartments."

Faced with a problem of a missing speaker the Exchange Club brought forth an extremely interesting program from among its own members.

pleted; and with plans made to build an addition before next term, grade seven will also be housed in the building for the term 1942-43.

The one-story building, brick-faced, is most attractive as well as well-appointed throughout. All desks, tables, etc., and other pieces of equipment in this up-to-date school are of the most modern type.

Immediately inside the main entrance is a display case in which it is proposed to place products of manufacturing firms of Bristol and vicinity, also products of the school shop. Two large bulletin boards also appear in the corridor. To the right of the entrance is the business office, and also the private office of the principal, Andrew Jackson. Mrs. Anna Armstrong will be located at the business office desk.

The interior of the building is finished in buff and tan. The ceilings are finished in a cellulose sound-absorbing material. All floors are of maple, building. Miss Nancy Ochs will be in charge of the art class.

The boys will delight in the modern shop, a large room well equipped. Edgar Paisgrove is in charge of the shop. The room is equipped with mechanical drawing table, woodworking benches, electric shop and wood-working machines; all necessary tools; running water, etc. There is located in the room a safety switch, so that in the event of any difficulty current for this room can be shut off without affecting the remainder of the building.

All class rooms are equipped with double bulletin boards, giving ample display space for results of pupils' individual efforts.

The modernly equipped lavatories feature "Tymatic" paper towel machines. With such dispensers a second paper towel is not released for a few seconds, thus aiding in conservation. The foam type of soap dispenser is used.

The library will be in charge of Miss Tama Swoyer, who will also teach a few classes in English, and also civics. The library is most attractively furnished in maple. A series of closets in the library has doors so arranged that when the first door is opened the other four open automatically. Other doors can be opened singly, however.

Home economics will be in charge of Miss Eleanor Baxter. This room is also furnished in maple. There are four extension tables of the dining-room type; and two additional tables. There is a china table, a book case; two electric sewing machines, and one treadle sewing machine. The teacher's desk matches the maple furnishings. It is planned to instruct in cooking, when the addition is built to the present

Making a Soldier of Sugar

AS we have sent men abroad to fight for America—as we have sent money—as we have drafted steel, with other commodities, into fighting-service or enlisted wheat and other fighting-foods—so we must make a soldier of sugar.

Nutrient for the nations at war is as vital to the outcome as the powder that feeds the guns. A great nutrient in time of peace—in war a veritable sinew—sugar is now called upon to play a heroic part, to supply the peoples of our Allies—whose strength is ours.

To wrap up sugar in the American flag, so to speak, and put it into the fight becomes a duty of loyalty. It will be borne cheerfully by every industry, every dealer, and every individual it falls upon. Upon certain industries it falls heavily—and especially on the workers who derive their living from them. Yet the American civilian is in this war with the soldier. American business great and small, American capital from Wall Street to the remotest country bank, is with the Government at every step of the way. The U. S. means U. S. All of us, are in the fight with everything we have, for the sake of everything we cherish.

This company regards it a privilege to contribute to the war effort in every direction that opportunity may disclose, in manufacture as well as beyond the scope of our immediate interests; and in this effort generally we bespeak the co-operation of dealers and consumers everywhere.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY
ATLANTA, GA.

WORLD WAR I 1917

The United States Government restricted the use of sugar in World War I. The response of The Coca-Cola Company was expressed in the newspaper advertisement reproduced at the left.

Again, Sugar enlists for Victory

WORLD WAR II 1942

History repeats itself in World War II. Sugar has been called to war again. Our government has restricted the use of sugar for all. Naturally, that includes Coca-Cola.

You'll continue to find Coca-Cola around the corner from anywhere, though we regret that you won't be able to enjoy the pause that refreshes as often as you might like. Our volume has been reduced. But this we pledge: the character of Coca-Cola will be unimpaired. The American people can continue to trust its quality.

As in 1917, we count upon the patience of dealers everywhere. Conserving sugar is another step toward Victory. Whatever any of us may have, or may not have, Victory we must have above all else!

Divorce Libels Are Filed With Court

L. Garrido has begun an action in divorce. The libellant and respondent were married September 25, 1928, in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia by the Rev. B. Warner Shay.

The libellant's present home is Pineville, and that of her husband is unknown. From 1934 until 1939 they lived in various cities in Mexico and in 1939 the libellant returned to the United States.

Robert V. Kleppinger, 1139½ Campbell street, Glendale, California, has been named the respondent in a libel in divorce filed by his wife, Victoria H. Kleppinger, of Shelly. They were married August 12, 1937, in Quakertown. The respondent is alleged to have deserted the libellant September 5, 1937.

In a libel in divorce Harold L. Leedom has charged his wife, Alice L. Leedom, with cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married January 10, 1931, in Quakertown, by the Rev. Norman B. Yerger, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

The libellant resides at 17 Elm street and the respondent at the Bush House apartments, both in Quakertown. The libellant charges he was forced to withdraw from his home August 12, 1941.

Following a decision by Justice of the Peace Irvin M. James in favor of the plaintiffs, Owen J. Christensen, Richard C. LaCompte and Laura V. Christensen, trading as Diesel Sales & Service Company, in the amount of $289.40 against the defendant, Ralph J. Roeder, an appeal has been filed in the Prothonotary's office.

Justice of the Peace James rendered the judgment in favor of the plaintiffs following a hearing December 30, 1941. It involves a claim for labor.

the banquet committee, said that James Gleen, one of the outstanding professional after-dinner speakers in the country, will be the guest speaker.

County Superintendent Charles H. Boehm, Morrisville, was the leader of a panel discussion which featured the meeting of the Fallington Parent-Teacher Association this week. The subject for discussion was "Partnership for Democracy." Others taking part were Miss Peggy Batten, Miss Louise Bennett, Miss Lillian Lord, Mrs. Raymond Patterson, Mrs. Oliver J. Morgan, Mrs. Leon deFernelmont, Mrs. Walter D. Hozard, Edwin Prior, Robert Thompson, Walter Ellis and Alex H. Wood.

Featuring a sample fair, which will be held in the school building, in the near future will be a poster contest. Miss Marian True, of the art department of the school, will serve as judge. Prizes will be awarded the first, second and third place winners. Another feature will be an essay contest, the subject of which will be "What Does the Falls Township Band Mean to My School?" The supervising principal, Andrew J. Chamberlin, will select the judges. Prizes will also be awarded the winners in this contest.

Four boys of school age were taken into custody in Sellersville this week, following a series of robberies which took place at the store of O. M. Nae, Stewart Nae, Lansdale, former District Attorney of Montgomery county, and Louis Henning, who worked as a clerk for O. M. Nae, helped trap one said to be taking money. Another was of the youths in the store while he was caught nearby.

Because they were caught in the act, it was difficult for the boys to deny their guilt, and before long the Ex-District Attorney drew a confession that implicated a quartet of boys in the affair.

The February meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Salem Reformed Church was held in the lecture room of the church at Doylestown on Tuesday afternoon. The devotional session was in charge of Mrs. Della Baughman, who reviewed the first three chapters of "A Christian Imperative," written by R. Barnes, being the book chosen by the society for study during the winter meetings.

During the business session the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Cletus Gooding; first vice-president, Mrs. Asher K. Anders; second vice-president, Mrs. Hannah Johnson; secretary, Mrs. Harold H. Keller; assistant secretary, Mrs. Harry Myers; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Winifred O. Welsel; financial secretary, Mrs. Della Baughman, and treasurer, Mrs. Mary Grim.

GRAND THEATRE

The loves, the hates, the lives of the unusual people who live near a forboding, mysterious and unknown swampland flashed across the screen of the Grand Theatre last night when "Swamp Water" was shown to an enthusiastic first night audience.

Under the expert guidance of Jean Renoir, famous French director who has gained renown for his "Grand Illusion" and "Madame Bovary," the Vereen Bell story has come to life with all the excitement and thrills of the most unusual serial ever published by the Saturday Evening Post. Renoir has again shown his artistry in this, his first American film.

Walter Brennan as Tom Keefer, Walter Huston as Thursday Ragan, Anne Baxter as Julie and Dana Antrayals which bring the unusual characters to life.

MANHATTAN FIVE DRAWS NEARER TO CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeats Rohm & Haas and Wins Fourth Straight
Game

FINAL SCORE IS 56 TO 46

Jones Injures Ankle and The Chemical Workers Suffer
From His Loss

The Manhattan A. A. team came closer to the second half championship of the Bristol Basketball League by winning its fourth straight game last night on the Mutual Aid floor. The Rohm & Haas five was the victim with the final score being 56-46.

The game was more closely played than the score indicates, several times the chemical workers staged short rallies to cut into the Manhattan lead. But when Jesse Vanzant injured his ankle in the third period, all hopes for a Rohm and Haas victory were dashed to pieces.

For it was Jesse who was holding up the Maple Beach aggregation. Besides, his usual good guarding game, Vanzant was scoring many points, he having 15 points before twisting his ankle while chasing a loose ball.

Leading the assault on his former teammates was Ralph Cahill who accounted for 29 Manhattan points with eight field goals and four fouls. He was perfect in his foul shooting to run his total to ten fouls out of 13 tries for the half. Joe Snyder also came through with several fine shots to register 15 points for the night.

Stark McCracken played a fine defensive game for the losing aggregation giving Vanzant an opportunity to be a roving guard.

PROFY WINS CLOSE GAME FROM DIAMOND

With the lead changing hands several times, the Profy and Diamond teams played a close contest last night with the Profytes finally winning out by the score of 45-41. A last period drive which saw the Profytes score nine points while holding the Diamond team to a pair of tallies decided the issue.

The Mill Streeters held a 22-19 lead at half-time but a strong Diamond comeback in the third session saw the sportsmen go into the lead which was held to 33-26 at the whistle. Profy then made their last-period drive.

Bob Monti was the whole show in the tilt as he raked up fourteen points. Vince Profy was high man for the Profy club with 11 points. Monti also stood out defensively for his team, being instrumental in getting the ball off the backboard on many occasions.

DIAMOND BOXERS ENTER N. J. TOURNAMENT

The Diamond boxing team has now entered the New Jersey Golden Gloves tournament which opens tonight in the Trenton Arena. This tourney is sponsored by a Trenton newspaper and is run annually.

The Diamond team which has been kept busy with matches throughout the Philadelphia area and which ended in "Jobby" Dugan winning the 175-pound sub-novice crown, is training daily in the St. Ann's gym under the guidance of the managers, the Castor brothers, Carl and Chet.

This afternoon the Diamond team will report to the A. A. U. officials of New Jersey for a physical examination and it is most likely that several localities will be in action tonight.

Manager Castor announced last night that William "Tarzan" McColl, hard-hitting 126-pounder, has withdrawn his entry because he left this week to join the U. S. Marines along with Carman Orino, who also is a well-known amateur fighter of this section.

So, entered in the tournament are: Carl "Spike" Perrino, 118 pounds; Al Turner, 138 pounds; Dave Montgomery, 165 pounds; and Walter Keyes, 155 pounds.

This is the first tournament for Keyes, who appeared in several shows at the St. Ann's arena.

BRISTOL HIGH IN CRUCIAL CONTEST WITH FALLSINGTON IN LOCAL "GYM" TONIGHT

(By Jack Gill)

Bristol High School has been romping through a fairly successful basketball season to date and since the start of the campaign has led the Lower Bucks County "Big Three" conference. They gained the leadership of this loop by virtue of a one-point, 31 to 30 triumph, over Fallsington early in the season on a last-minute shot.

Since that time, Bristol has been winning a fair percentage of its contests and Fallsington has been doing likewise. The Orange, having won 12 games out of 17 scraps, has set an amazing pace and come to town tonight to battle the Bunnies in the local gymnasium. A victory for Bristol will just about do the trick and send the Cardinal and Gray into the P. I. A. A. playoffs. A win for Fallsington will create a tie for the league leadership. Since Fallsington rests back on its chair, having played all of its "Big Three" games, it may see Bristol lose the loop confalon in its last fray with Morrisville, which is a league affair.

Bristol, therefore, is primed for its most crucial contest of the year. On the other hand, Fallsington, fresh from last night's tingling drill, is out to tear things asunder in a desperate attempt to reach the state tournament games.

BENSALEM GIRLS ADD ANOTHER VICTORY

The Bensalem high school girls team were given a frightful scare by the Boothwyn girls but the Owlettes, thanks to a large first half lead, managed to win their eighth straight game by the score of 28-22.

The lassies of Coach Smith piled up a 14-1 lead at half-time but threw all caution to the winds as the second half started with the result that the Boothwyn girls began to creep up slowly. The usually strong defense of the Owlettes went to pieces and when the final whistle blew the Bristol Pike girls were only six points to the good.

The tilt turned out to be a scoring duel between Doris Ely, of the winners, and Helen Brown, of the Boothwyn school. Ely counted 20 of the Bensalem points with nine fielders and a pair of fouls. Brown scored 14 Boothwyn points.

Bensalem has two more games to play for an undefeated season. It has already clinched the Lower Bucks County championship.
